The show in three sentences

A free sample at the mall turns into a chair, a pitch and a bill in the tens of thousands, and the same playbook is hitting older shoppers from Florida to Washington. A daughter rang her father's doorbell and heard his caregiver say he had died, then learned the caregiver had become his power of attorney and signed his house over to herself for $5. And at Walmart, the register is ringing up more than the sign says. Every one of these has a one-line fix.

The ride

A builds through four victims to a store going dark and exhales on the fix. B is the darkest stretch (a death, a daughter treated as a trespasser) and lands on the arrest. C is quick, relatable and practical, and the show exhales on it.

Decisions before we write

- Which story leads: the outline follows the producer's note (skincare A, caregiver B). Kyle and David's note had the caregiver story as the lead.
- A beat 2: the $26,000 widow is a June 2025 case. Producer, 10/6: leave as is, decide the framing later.
- A cut from 6 clips to 5 (producer, 10/7): the three CBS LA pieces repeated Chisholm's "Uh no, I did not" and Sherman's AG line, so beats 5 and 6 merged into one CBS clip that shows the sample pitch and the closed store. A3 trimmed to one segment so it doesn't repeat A2's shame beat. If A runs long, cut A3 next.
- B rows swapped at Checkpoint 3 (producer, 10/6): B now opens on the doorbell (the 5.7M Short), then the $5 deed.
- B beat 1: "Your dad died" is on tape, as Nora retelling what the caregiver said, not the Ring audio itself.
- B beat 1: the Short is WSMV's repost of WMBF's story. Clear it through Gray, or use WMBF's original (same audio).

- C replaced 10/7 (producer): Walmart shelf-tag vs register pricing, two producer-picked TikToks (MANUAL · UNVERIFIED, no transcript). Note Kroger shelf-vs-register aired Sept 18.
- Picks: A and B 8/8 verified against transcripts, all affiliate or network news; C 2/2 manual.
- No expert this week (producer, 10/6). A beat 7 and B beat 4 stay with Jeff.

A. THIS FREE SAMPLE COST HER $26,000

In one sentence: Mall skincare stores hand older shoppers a free sample, sit them down, and run up bills in the tens of thousands, and one store just closed after CBS LA's reports.

Peg: The Bee & Co. store at Westfield Topanga closed Sept 24 after months of CBS California Investigates reports (latest Oct 1).

The fix

- Never sit down for a "free" demo. Take the sample and keep walking.
- Ask for the total in writing before you hand over a card. Never sign a "final sale" form you can't read.
- Already charged? Call your card company the same day and dispute it; report it at ReportFraud.ftc.gov.

Gaps

- △ Beat 2 is from June 2025 (purchase about early 2024). Her store's site calls every Bee and Co "independently owned"; don't tie it to Mazal's Bee & Co.
- △ Beats 4-6: accused of high-pressure sales, not charged with fraud (the Vancouver arrest is a separate case). Every line gets attribution and the company's response.
- △ Georgia: a 74-year-old Georgia woman was charged $8,000+ at the Florida store (First Coast News, citing police). A Georgia victim, not a Georgia store.
- △ Beat 6: Donna asked not to show her face.

B. DON'T SIGN THIS FOR ANYONE: HIS CAREGIVER TOOK HIS HOUSE FOR $5

In one sentence: A daughter rang her father's doorbell and his caregiver answered that he had died; the caregiver had become his power of attorney, deeded his house to herself for $5, and was arrested Sept 28.

Peg: Sarah Smalls was arrested Sept 28; WMBF's follow-up ran Sept 29–30. Next court date Dec 11.

1	WSMV 4 Nashville (repost of WMBF) — Caregiver took deed to her father's home	Nora retells the doorbell call ("your dad died"), her phone video of the confrontation ("I GOT A DEED"), then handcuffs. 5.68M, Aug 30, 2026, 2:23.	0:39–1:11 "dead for 3 days" BUTT 1:43–2:22 "this is my dad's house"	PICK
2	WMBF News — Daughter claims caregiver took deed to father's Conway home	The paper trail: home care in March 2024, power of attorney in April, the $5 quitclaim deed April 17, transfers after his death. 129K, 4:47.	3:10–3:38 "even after he died"	PICK
3	WMBF News — Daughter reacts after caregiver is arrested	Sept 28 arrest: perjury, breach of trust, exploitation of a vulnerable adult; Nora "relieved." Sept 30, 2026, 3:15.	0:59–1:27 "I was relieved"	PICK

The fix

- Never make a paid caregiver your power of attorney. Name a family member or a lawyer.
- Sign up for your county's free property-fraud alert.
- Suspect it? Call Adult Protective Services through the Eldercare Locator, 1-800-677-1116.

Gaps

- △ Beat 1: the 5.7M Short is WSMV's repost of WMBF's story. Clear it through Gray. Inside Edition (275K) is the horizontal alternate.
- △ Inside Edition says Robert was 74; WMBF and court records say 75.
- △ Beat 3: accused, not convicted. Don't name the home-care agency; sources disagree on its name.

C. THE SIGN SAID $1. THE REGISTER SAID SOMETHING ELSE.

In one sentence: Shoppers are filming Walmart registers ringing up more than the sale sign or digital shelf tag says, and the fix is watching the screen and asking for the shelf price.

Peg: Viral TikToks this fall, a growing pile of complaints about Walmart's new digital shelf labels, and Walmart's $5.6 million California settlement over scanner overcharges (Aug 2025), which put it on a price-accuracy program through 2028.

Weight: ~15% of show · 2 clip beats

#	Beat	Who	What happens	Clip
1	The $1 sign	Amanda, Kansas shopper (TikTok "Queen Abomb")	A rollback sign says $1, down from $1.34; self-checkout rings the lasagna up at $1.44, and an employee overrides it.	HAVE · VERTICAL — TikTok @amandabainum457
2	The digital tag	Jimmy Wrigg, shopper and creator (TikTok @james_wrigg)	He films Walmart's digital shelf tags and the prices they show against what rings up, per his caption.	HAVE · VERTICAL — TikTok @james_wrigg
3	The fix	You (the viewer)	Watch the screen as each item scans, ask for the shelf price, and check the receipt before you leave.	JEFF

Videos

#	Clip	Shows	In-Out	Status
1	Queen Abomb (@amandabainum457) — Walmart rollback rings up higher	Per caption and press write-up: $1 rollback sign, $1.44 at self-checkout, employee override. Captioned #walmartpricegouge.	—	MANUAL · UNVERIFIED
2	Jimmy Wrigg (@james_wrigg) — Digital price tags and pricing	Per caption only: "Digital Price Tags And Pricing." Content not confirmed.	—	MANUAL · UNVERIFIED

The fix

- Watch the screen as each item scans. Don't bag and look away.
- Price higher than the sign? Ask for the shelf price before you pay; snap a photo of the sign.
- Check the receipt before you leave the store, not at home.

Gaps

- △ Kroger shelf-vs-register pricing aired Sept 18 (F1). This is the same complaint at a different chain, four weeks later. The new angle is the digital shelf tags.
- △ Amanda scanned one can on camera; the press write-up says it's unclear whether the rest rang up the same. Say "this can," not "the whole display."
- △ Both clips are native TikToks: no transcripts reached (media download blocked), so no in-out or outcue. Kyle sets them when he pulls. Clip 2's content is known only from its caption.

- △ "Price scam" is the creators' word. Walmart says its digital labels don't use personal data to set prices; attribute any intent claims. Get Walmart's response.
- △ Walmart does not have a national "item free if it scans wrong" policy that I found; some states have scanner laws (verify before naming any).
