The show in three sentences

Police say burglary crews hide cameras in bushes across the street to learn when a family leaves and comes back, and one Massachusetts neighbor's find let police stage a fake vacation and catch the crew. It's still happening, in Southern California this fall, and the same crews move fast, jam Wi-Fi cameras and knock on doors dressed as delivery drivers. Then Jeff walks a yard and shows exactly what to look for, what to do if you find one, and how to lock down everything else they're watching.

The ride

Opens on a win (the trap), then tightens with each beat: it's here now, it takes hours, it's organized, your camera goes blind, they're at your door. It lets go at beat 8, when the viewer gets the walk, and ends on the neighbors: the cheapest camera you'll ever own.

Decisions before we write

- One story by design (producer, 11/2): 9 beats and 7 clips, about 20–25% over a usual A. Every clip carries a different "adds" note (below); none proves the same point twice.
- Guest or no guest? None booked. A retired burglary detective or home-security expert could walk the yard in beat 8 with Jeff. If no guest, Jeff does the demo alone.
- Lead case: Braintree (2024) opens because it's the strongest real result (Jeff, 11/04) and carries a loss and a success in one package. It's dated on air. Rancho Cucamonga (this fall) is the peg in beat 3.
- Demo (beat 8): build a mock bush camera (a phone or small camera, battery pack, hotspot, tape and fake leaves) and shoot Jeff walking a front yard. Who builds it, and whose yard?
- All 7 picks are timed against Whisper transcripts of the outlets' own site videos (CBS, NBC, ABC7); YouTube blocked every caption pull on 11/2. Pull the site cut, or re-time against the YouTube copy (a few seconds' drift is likely).

- Clip windows were scanned by hand against the site transcripts (`site_transcripts.json`) with the checker's risk words: the only hit is A beat 5. The checker's own scan reads YouTube IDs only, so it can't see these site cuts.
- A beat 5 · LEGAL: the ABC7 window calls the seven "alleged members" with "possible ties to a South American crime group." Jeff follows with "all seven have pleaded not guilty," and says "police say" every time.
- Beats 5 and 9 use the same ABC7 report, different windows (the bust; the neighbors).
- NBC News' national report (~497K, Apr 2025) is the alternate for beat 3. It proves the same point as Rancho Cucamonga ("it's spreading") and is older, so it's out unless the room wants the views.
- Car trackers and travel posts are Jeff lines in beat 9 (officials' statements, no clip). Funeral and obituary burglaries are cut as niche.

A. THE BURGLARS ARE WATCHING YOUR HOUSE FROM THE BUSHES

In one sentence: Burglary crews hide cameras in bushes to learn when you're gone, police caught one crew because a neighbor found theirs, and a two-minute walk around your yard is how you find one.

Hold back: what the camera looks like and where it hides (the walk in beat 8), and the camera that keeps recording when Wi-Fi is jammed. The tease promises "the two-minute walk"; it doesn't teach it.

Peg: Rancho Cucamonga police warned residents Oct 6–8 after cameras turned up near homes twice in two weeks, and Thanksgiving and holiday travel are weeks away: houses sit empty, and crews watch for exactly that. "They know when you leave."

Framing: a camera hidden near your home, aimed at your door, by someone planning to break in (police say). Bushes, planters, fences, the yard across the street.

Climb: closer to you each beat: one family → your area, this fall → hours, not weeks → organized crews → your own camera goes blind → they're at your door → you take it back.

Payoff point: beat 8, the two-minute walk (DEMO), after the real result (2), the stakes (3–4) and two complications (6–7). Beat 9 opens the next takeaway.

Headlines and bridges (Jeff, 11/04: newspaper headlines; a strong line out of every clip)
Direction for the bible, not final copy. Each headline names the subject first and lands on the viewer; each bridge reacts, then gives the next reason to stay.

- Tease: BURGLARS ARE HIDING CAMERAS OUTSIDE YOUR HOUSE… TO LEARN WHEN YOU LEAVE
- Beat 2: ONE NEIGHBOR FOUND THE BURGLARS' CAMERA… AND POLICE TURNED IT INTO A TRAP. Out: THEY GOT CAUGHT BECAUSE SOMEBODY LOOKED… AND THIS FALL, THE CAMERAS ARE BACK.
- Beat 3: THE CAMERAS ARE BACK… IN NEIGHBORHOODS JUST LIKE YOURS. Out: TWO CAMERAS IN TWO WEEKS, AND NOBODY ARRESTED… WATCH HOW FAST THEY MOVE ONCE ONE IS IN.
- Beat 4: BURGLARS PLANTED A CAMERA AT 2 A.M.… AND EMPTIED THE HOUSE BY 11. Out: NINE HOURS… SO WHO ARE THESE PEOPLE?
- Beat 5: POLICE SAY THIS CREW WATCHED HOMES LIKE YOURS FROM A BOX OF FAKE GRASS. Out: SEVEN UNDER ARREST… BUT WHAT THEY CARRIED CAN BLIND YOUR CAMERA.
- Beat 6: BURGLARS CAN BLIND YOUR SECURITY CAMERA… FOR ABOUT 60 DOLLARS. Out: YOUR CAMERA CAN GO DARK… AND SOME CREWS DON'T EVEN HIDE. THEY KNOCK.
- Beat 7: THAT DELIVERY DRIVER AT YOUR DOOR MAY BE CHECKING IF YOU'RE HOME. Out: THEY KNOCK TO SEE IF YOU'RE HOME… NOW LET'S FIND THEIR CAMERA BEFORE THEY USE IT.
- Beat 8 (protection header, house standard). Out: FINDING THE CAMERA IS STEP ONE… HERE'S WHAT ELSE THEY'RE WATCHING FOR.
- Beat 9: YOUR NEIGHBORS ARE THE BEST CAMERA YOU'LL EVER OWN.

The fix

- After Braintree: a camera pointed at a house is a crime in progress, police said; that's why they left it and set the trap (CBS Boston, Braintree PD).
- After Rancho Cucamonga: if you find one, police say don't touch it and call them right away (CBS LA, Rancho Cucamonga PD). This is the one protective line before the payoff.
- After West Hills: someone putting something in a bush at 2 a.m. is a call to police that night; LAPD says report anything suspicious directly (CBS LA, Mar 20, 2025).
- After the LA bust: the camera is there to learn your routine, when the car leaves and comes back (Rancho Cucamonga PD via KTLA, Oct 8, 2026; Arcadia police via NBC News, Apr 30, 2025).
- After the jammer: a doorbell that glitches or drops just as someone walks up isn't always bad Wi-Fi; a wired camera, or one that records to its own memory card, keeps recording (NBC News, Dec 5, 2025; Sheriff Luna, May 20, 2026).
- After Irvine: a delivery you didn't order is a reason to talk through the door, never to open it (Irvine PD via ABC7, May 17, 2025; Burbank PD via CBS LA, Feb 23, 2025).
- The two-minute walk, the one move from the tease: check bushes, planters, trees, fences and the yard across the street for anything pointed at your door (Whittier PD via KTLA, Sep 16, 2026; Brea PD via KTLA, Jun 23, 2026; LASD via Patch, May 15, 2026).
- Found one? Don't touch, move or remove it. Leave it in place and call police (LASD; Rancho Cucamonga PD; Brea PD).
- Trim the shrubs that face your door (Whittier PD; Brea PD; LASD San Dimas).
- Ask whoever does your yard to look too (LASD Lost Hills via ABC7, May 29, 2024).
- Look at your neighbor's yard too; most of these point across the street (Rancho Cucamonga PD; Sheriff Luna, May 20, 2026).

- Hard-wired security, or cameras that record locally (Sheriff Luna; NBC News experts, Dec 5, 2025).
- Don't post the trip until you're home; tell a neighbor or police when you'll be away (LA County officials, May 20, 2026).
- Lights on timers so the house looks lived in (LASD via Patch, May 15, 2026).
- Stop the mail while you're away. ⚠️ USPS Hold Mail: confirm the page and the 30-day limit at usps.com before air.
- Do-nothing test: doing only the walk still leaves the jammer and the knock, so beat 9 closes those; do nothing, and a crew can watch for one to three weeks (Kent County, MI sheriff's sergeant via WOOD TV)

Gaps

- ⚠️ A2 Braintree is Jul 2024: date it on air ("two summers ago, outside Boston").
- ⚠️ A4 West Hills is Mar 2025: date it on air ("last spring").
- ⚠️ A5 and A9, the LA County arrests, are May 2026: date it on air ("in May").
- ⚠️ A6 Bellaire is Dec 2025: date it on air ("last December").
- ⚠️ A7 Irvine is Apr 2025: date it on air ("Easter, last year").
- ⚠️ Beat 6 Who is a police account of a doorbell video, not a person; no homeowner speaks. It's the jammer's proof, so it stays.
- ⚠️ No 2026 camera case has a dollar figure. Irvine's "tens of thousands" is the homeowner's own figure, and Irvine isn't a camera case.
- ⚠️ The Rancho Cucamonga couple's two burglaries aren't tied to cameras. Their clip says they've been hit; it doesn't say how.

Jeff should know

- Beat 2: CBS Boston and WCVB say three were arrested; NBC's national report says four. Say three. Police tie them to "South American Theft Groups"; how the case ended in court isn't reported. The family never showed their faces, so don't name them.
- Beat 2: the camera was found about two weeks after the break-in; police believe it was used to case the house before it. Say "police say."
- Beat 3: on air the couple is THIS COUPLE (one-off subjects, Jeff 11/04). "So far, nobody's been arrested" (CBS LA).
- Beat 4: no arrests and no reported loss in West Hills. The neighbor's regret ("if I would have screamed…") is the human beat. The KCAL package later quotes a resident on getting a gun; it's outside our window.
- Beat 5: all seven pleaded not guilty. ABC7 says at least three burglaries; NBC LA says "dozens." Use "at least three, police say." "South American theft group" is the police's phrase: attribute it, never broaden it to a nationality or to immigrants.
- Beat 5: the Michigan ring (20+ homes, 8 states, over $1.5 million, six sentenced Apr 9, 2026) is a strong Jeff line for scale.
- Beat 6: we haven't confirmed that jammers are illegal under federal law (FCC). Check fcc.gov before Jeff says it.
- Beat 7: Irvine police say the crew was from Colombia and may be tied to four or five more burglaries; not in our window.
- Beat 8: don't show anyone kicking or pulling a camera out (the West Covina homeowner did); police say leave it.
- Beat 9: crews also put GPS trackers on cars to know when owners are at work (Kent County deputies via Fox 17; Abington, PA police via KYW, Sep 2025). One line if time allows.
